

Newsletter: Summer 2019

Dear Colleague

Welcome to the Elemi newsletter. Our newsletters aim to bring you the latest news on our publishing, tips from authors and other experienced teachers, requests to get involved in Elemi publishing research projects, and of course, the latest special offers and discounts.

Meeting you

Our readership is, of course, based all over the world. At a recent Ibcus event in Raffles World Academy Dubai, we were able to meet some of you face-to-face. IB teachers travelled from at least four continents to benefit from professional development, networking, and a display of the latest resources available. We hope to be at an upcoming Ibcus event in October in Berkshire, UK.

A-Z for English A 2nd ed – on the printing press now

Now fully updated for first assessment 2021. Available in June, it helps students reference and learn the academic subject-specific language they need to achieve their best at IB Diploma. The author, Silvia Codita, has written some tips on how to ensure your students learn and engage with this terminology.

A-Z for French B is published in July

From the author: helping students master the language of IB Diploma English A

Available June 2019
ISBN 978-1-9164131-2-2

Silvia Codita, an experienced IB Diploma teacher and author of A-Z for English A offers ideas to help your students master the terminology they need to achieve their best. As a teacher, you can encourage students to:

- * provide their own examples to key terminology by referring to the texts or works they study in class
- * identify vocabulary relevant to specific genres or assessment components
- * annotate definitions in the glossary with additional class notes or their own paraphrased definitions
- * translate some terms and/or definitions into their own native language, where appropriate
- * add their own terms by using the space on the margins of each page or at the end of each letter of the alphabet.
